Calcutta Spice was established in 1989. It came about when we realised the need and gap in the market for a spice brand to supply small and large businesses, including local butcheries and supermarkets. We started off by purchasing the spices and repackaging them, but we then started to blend the spices and create unique flavours, ourselves, giving us greater control over the products.

After five years in business, we saw another demand in the market, not just for spices but for sauces as well, and so we introduced sauces into our production line and by that time we understood that the brand was vital, so we rebranded to Calcutta Sauces and Spices.
